

South Asian Performing Arts Centre (SAPAC)

Are you interested in learning, promoting and performing music and dance from South Asian countries?

Do you feel that currently you need to go outside of Swindon to learn and enjoy good standard performances?

Well, from now on you have your own centre.

SAPAC of Swindon and Wiltshire is all about learning and celebrating music and dance from the South Asian countries.

It will arrange regular learning of classical vocals and instrumental music (both South & North Indian) as well as classical Bharatanatyam and contemporary dance. There will also be workshops for people of all abilities and ages.

Its membership is open to all who are interested in learning, enjoying and promoting music and dance.

It will have a database of local and UK artists; it will also develop a forum where like-minded people can come together to advance the cause of music and dance to a professional standard.

The centre is arranging its very first performance by learners on the 2nd of July in the Phoenix Theatre, New College, Swindon. Please come and support the event.

This initiative is being supported by Swindon Borough Council, Swindon Dance and Swindon Arts Centre
